| Background                          | Year created                           | Local Workforce Development Boards are established under federal workforce legislation and have existed in Iowa for many years. In 1998, the federal government enacted the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) that had 15 local workforce regions, each with its own board. Subsequent federal workforce legislation have also required local workforce boards. Iowa maintained the same 15 local areas and boards for decades, until recently, when some of the local areas chose to consolidate, establishing new local workforce boards in some parts of the state. o Northeast Iowa Local Workforce Development Board - 7/1/2020 o Central Iowa Local Workforce Development Board - prior to 1998 o South Central Iowa Local Workforce Development Board - 7/1/2020 o East Central Iowa Local Workforce Development Board - prior to 1998 o Mississippi Valley Local Workforce Development Board - 7/1/2020 o Iowa Plains Local Workforce Development Board - 7/1/23                                                                                         |
|                                     | General mission                        | The purpose of a local workforce board is to provide strategic and operational oversight of the local/regional workforce system in collaboration with the required partners and workforce system stakeholders to develop a comprehensive and high-quality workforce system in the local area.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|                                     | Statutory duties                       | Under federal law and Iowa Code Chapter 84A.4(4), the LWDB is responsible for seventeen separate duties, both strategic and operational. The LWDB must develop and implement and 4-year Local Plan, convene local workforce system stakeholders, select service provider to provide direct services to Iowans, etc.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

|                         | Req. by federal law? (If so, specify.) | The 50-year old state plan for IOSHA enforcement requires EAB. If there were no state plan, the federal OSHA would enforce workplace safety in Iowa directly. The United States Social Security Act of 1935 covers the UI portion of the EAB caseload (49 Stat. 620.) The model legislation issued by the Social Security Commission included review boards and Iowa has been in compliance since 1936. |

This enforcement should not discourage individuals from being involved in the political process or state government. At all times the Board will seek to educate those individuals and entities that come under its jurisdiction concerning the requirements of Iowa law and will continue to embrace technological changes to better serve the public. In order to accomplish its Mission, the Board will enforce the provisions of the "Campaign Disclosure Act" in Iowa Code chapter 68A, the "Government Ethics and Lobbying Act" in Iowa Code chapter 68B, the reporting of gifts and bequests received by agencies under Iowa Code section 8.7, and the Board's administrative rules in Chapter 351 of the Iowa Administrative Code. |

|       | - Complaint (no disc.)                       | This process all depends on when ILEA receives documentation from the agency regarding the departure of the employee: "resigned in lieu of termination or "dismissed". Once ILEA receives this information, it begins the process of asking for additional documentation. This can take sometimes months and in some instances, requires a subpoena. We have a "contested case document" for more detail if you wish to see it. |

While Iowa law names the constituent groups to serve on the BAC, each association chooses its BAC representative. The Committee includes nine voting members; seven are elected by the Committee membership. The voting members serve three-year terms and include: Four members who represent IPERS-covered employers, one of whom must be the director of the Iowa Department of Administrative Services. Four members who represent IPERS members and a public member who is not a member of IPERS. |

(1) The voting members shall be as follows: (a) Three public members, appointed by the governor, who are not members of the retirement system and who each have substantial institutional investment experience or substantial institutional financial experience. (b) Three members, appointed by the governor, who are members of the retirement system. Prior to the appointment by the governor of a member of the board under this subparagraph, the benefits advisory committee shall submit a slate of at least two nominees per position to the governor for the governor's consideration. The governor is not required to appoint a member from the slate submitted. Of the three members appointed, one shall be an active member who is an employee of a school district, area education agency, or merged area; one shall be an active member who is not an employee of a school district, area education agency, or merged area; and one shall be a retired member of the retirement system. (c) The treasurer of state. (2) The nonvoting members of the board shall be two state representatives, one appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives and one by the minority leader of the house, and two state senators, one appointed by the majority leader of the senate and one by the minority leader of the senate. |

|                                  | General mission                        | PAAB was created for the purpose of establishing a consistent, fair, and equitable property assessment appeal process. It is an alternative venue for taxpayers and property owners to contest their property assessments, in lieu of proceeding to District Court under Iowa Code section 441.38. In addition to alleviating the courts from some of the assessment appeals (taxpayers can still opt for District Court) it provides a more user-friendly, administrative avenue for an appeal from the board of review.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|                                  | How many meetings? *                   | PAAB held seven typical Chapter 22 public meetings between January 1, 2021 and June 30, 2023 to review administrative rules and policies. However, PAAB's primary purpose is to adjudicate contested cases. Some cases are decided without a hearing (what PAAB calls a "written consideration"), but the parties have the statutory right to request a hearing. When a contested case hearing is requested, these hearings are open to the public. PAAB schedules appeal hearings throughout the year as it works through its docket. From 2017 to 2022, PAAB received 3115 appeals. Although the filing period for 2023 is not yet complete, we anticipate receiving approximately 1000 property assessment appeals. Typically, PAAB schedules approximately 25 to 35 appeal hearings a month. All hearings are scheduled for a minimum of a 90 minutes. But depending on the complexity of the property type, value, and claims a hearing may last from 30 minutes to several days. When not presiding over hearings, board members are responsible for drafting written decisions that comply with Iowa law; they also consider and act on motions or other requests that come before the Board. |
|                                  | - How many members?                    | All board members attend PAAB's typical Chapter 22 public meetings. Further, all board members attend 90-95% of the scheduled contested hearings. Even where a board member is unavailable for a contested case hearing, that member still participates in the final decision after reviewing the evidence and testimony.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|           | Staff support?                            | PAAB employs two attorneys. Attorneys review all preliminary and final orders for legal compliance; represent PAAB in judicial review actions in the Iowa district courts, court of appeals, and supreme court; represent PAAB before the general assembly and draft administrative rules; and provide administrative support in the day-to-day operations of the board including maintaining PAAB’s eFile system and its website. PAAB also employs one administrative secretary/paralegal that assists in the day-to-day operations of the board. The secretary processes filings, drafts certain board documents, and is the first point-of-contact for questions from the public.                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

|              | How often are fee scheds. evaluated?         | Fees are evaluated when conducting comprehensive review of administrative rules; most recently in 2022.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|              | How do fees compare with other states?       | To respond to this question, PAAB reviewed the initial filing fees charged to seek administrative review of property assessments by similarly situated state agencies in neighboring states. Illinois – No filing fee; Wisconsin - $200 filing fee; Minnesota - $150 to $285 filing fee; Nebraska - $40 to $85 filing; Missouri – No filing fee; South Dakota – No filing fee. The fees PAAB may charge for producing public records appear to be consistent or less than fees charged for similar services by other Iowa state agencies. Rarely does PAAB charge public records fees as its appeal records are almost all now available electronically in its eFile system. |
|              | Required to submit reports on fees?          | PAAB is not required to report fees, but any fees PAAB receives from public records requests are paid to the Iowa Treasurer's Office.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

|                 | Statutory duties                       | Generally described in § 474.9 and Iowa Code Chapter 479. The IUB regulates the rates and services of investor-owned electric, natural gas, water, sanitary sewage, and storm water drainage public utilities, and has specific regulatory authority over municipal electric and natural gas utilities and rural electric cooperatives (RECs). The IUB also has authority over the siting and construction of electric transmission lines, intrastate natural gas pipelines, and hazardous liquid pipelines. The IUB has regulatory authority over telecommunications and may issue franchises for cable and video providers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                 | Funding source                         | Per § 476.10, the IUB makes assessments to utilities and other stakeholders for both direct and indirect costs attributable to actual expenses incurred by the IUB. Remittances for assessments are deposited into the Commerce Revolving Fund, out of which the IUB has general spending authority.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

The panel may propose a schedule of penalties for minor and serious violations. The department may adopt rules based on the recommendations of the panel as approved by the Secretary.The panel shall review cases of persons required to be licensed as commercial applicators who are subject to civil penalties as provided in section 206.19 according to rules adopted by the department. A review shall be performed upon request by the secretary or the person subject to the civil penalty. The panel may establish procedures for the review and establish a system of prioritizing cases for review, consistent with rules adopted by the department. The rules may exclude review of minor violations. The review may also include the manner of assessing and collecting the civil penalty. The findings and recommendations of the panel shall be included in a response delivered to the department and the person subject to the penalty. The response may include a recommendation that a proposed civil penalty be modified or suspended, that an alternative method of collection be instituted, or that conditions be placed upon the license of a commercial applicator. |

|                                              | How do fees compare with other states?    | Prior to this year, fees have not been levied since 1989. Some states that have a Grain Indemnity Fund have instituted their fees multiple times during the time that Iowa has not. Some states apply an excise tax on grain on a regular basis rather than running an assessment/participation fees as-needed like Iowa. |

The panel may propose a schedule of penalties form in or and serious violations. The department may adopt rules based on the recommendations of the panel as approved by the secretary.The panel shall review cases of persons required to be certified as private applicators who are subject to civil penalties as provided in section 206.19 according to rules adopted by the department. A review shall be performed upon request by the secretary or the person subject to the civil penalty. The panel may establish procedures for the review and establish a system of prioritizing cases for review, consistent with rules adopted by the department.The rules may exclude review of minor violations. The review may also include the manner of assessing and collecting the civil penalty. The findings and recommendations of the panel shall be included in a response delivered to the department and the person subject to the penalty. The response may include a recommendation that a proposed civil penalty be modified or suspended, that an alternative method of collection be instituted, or that conditions be placed upon the certification of a private applicator. |

|                                     | General mission                        | To review research and make recommendations state entities regarding methods to protect water resources in the state, assure an adequate supply of water, mitigate and prevent floods, and coordinate the management of those resources in a sustainable, fiscally responsible, and environmentally responsible manner.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                     | Statutory duties                       | The WPAC is charged with reviewing research and developing an annual report on recommendations pertaining to water resources issues. The report shall include recommendations regarding all of the following:a. Improving water quality and optimizing the costs of voluntarily achieving and maintaining water quality standards.b. Creating economic incentives for voluntary nonpoint source load reductions, point source discharge reductions beyond those required by the federal Water Pollution Control Act, implementation of pollution prevention programs, wetland restoration and creation, and the development of emerging pollution control technologies.c. Facilitating the implementation of total maximum daily loads, urban storm water control programs, and nonpoint source management practices required or authorized under the federal Water Pollution Control Act. This paragraph shall not be construed to obviate the requirement to develop a total maximum daily load for waters that do not meet water quality standards as required by section 303(d) of the federal Water Pollution Control Act or to delay implementation of a total maximum daily load that has been approved by the department of natural resources and the director.d. Providing incentives, methods, and practices for the development of new and more accurate and reliable pollution control quantification protocols and procedures, including but not limited to development of policy based on information and data that is publicly available and that can be verified and evaluated.e. Providing greater flexibility for broader public involvement through community-based, nonregulatory, and performance-driven watershed management planning.f. Assigning responsibility for monitoring flood risk, flood mitigation, and coordination with federal agencies.g. Involving cities, counties, and other local and regional public and private entities in watershed improvement including but not limited to incentives for participation in a watershed management authority. |

|                                   | General mission                        | As stated in Iowa Code Section 5.4, the Commissioners "shall attend the meeting of the national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws, . . . , and both in and out of the national conference shall do all in their power to promote uniformity in state laws, upon all subjects where uniformity is deemed desirable and practicable."                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|                                   | Statutory duties                       | The commissioners shall report to the legislative council of the general assembly an account of its transactions, and its advice and recommendations for legislation." Every State and Districts like the District of Columbia or the U.S. Virgin Islands are members of the national conference, now known as the Uniform Law Commission. Commissioners are appointed to Study Committees and Drafting Committees to consider and to draft proposed uniform acts to be examined and evaluated by the whole conference. If approved, drafts are submitted to the States for consideration as bills to be introduced in the General Assembly. |

|                                        | General mission                        | The seven-member Judicial Qualifications Commission is the government body responsible for evaluating and investigating allegations of misconduct by Iowa judges, magistrates and court employees. The Judicial Qualifications Commission can recommend to the Iowa Supreme Court the retirement, discipline or removal of a judicial officer or the discipline or removal of an employee of the Iowa Judicial Branch. The Iowa Supreme Court can retire a judicial officer for a disability or discipline or remove a judicial officer for good cause, only upon application of the Judicial Qualifications Commission. The Iowa Supreme Court cannot retire, discipline, or remove a judicial officer without first receiving a public report from the Judicial Qualifications Commission. |

|           | Describe licensing process                | All individuals seeking to practice law in Iowa complete an initial application detailing their educational and employment background. A background investigation is performed in accordance with Iowa Code §602.10102. Those individuals who have not been admitted in another jurisdiction are then required to take the bar examination or transfer their scores on the Uniform Bar Exam in lieu of retaking the examination. If the applicant is licensed in another jurisdiction then they may be admitted on motion if they meet the qualifications set forth in Iowa Code §602.10109. Finally, all applicants must take an oath or affirmation pursuant to Iowa Code §602.10110 |

|                  | What is the public interest in licensing? | Shorthand reporting requires the ability to stenographically report live testimony at both a high rate of speed and at a high degree of accuracy. The final transcript serves as the record of the proceeding which allows for later review, such as on an appeal.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

|                  | Describe licensing process                | Applicants are required to submit an application showing their education, training, and a letter stating that they can pass at least 200 wpm. They are then allowed to sit for the in-person skill exam which consists of three tests (180 wpm, 200 wpm, and 225 wpm) that the applicants must pass at 95% or higher. They then take a written exam over Iowa's shorthand reporting rules and requirements, basic terminology, and grammar. If they pass the written examination then they are licensed. Alternatively, if they already possess the designation of a Registered Professional Reporter with the National Association of Court Reporters, then they only need to pass the Iowa written knowledge test to get licensed. |

MFPRSI is made up of participating cities throughout the state of Iowa. The state is not a participating employer and does not appoint members of the MFPRSI board. Because MFPRSI is an instrumentality of cities in Iowa, not the state, MFPRSI is not a board, council, committee, or similar entity of the state of Iowa as described under SF514 Division XIX.MFPRSI is not a state agency governed by Chapter 17A, but it publishes its own administrative rules.Most MFPRSI members are not eligible for social security or workers' compensation. Therefore, MFPRSI benefits are in lieu of social security and long-term workers' compensation disability benefits. |

|                                       | Statutory duties                       | The Iowa Statewide Independent Living Council (SILC) is a council where the majority of members are persons with disabilities. The role of the Council is to plan for the coordination and expansion of independent living services in Iowa. The SILC does not provide any direct services to individuals with disabilities, but their partners, the CILs, IVRS, and IDB, do provide direct services. The SILC and these partners are also responsible for developing the State Plan for Independent Living (SPIL) every three years.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                       | Req. by federal law? (If so, specify.) | Yes, it is required by federal law (the Act Title VII chapter 1) and then in July of 2014, the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) was signed into law, transferring the Independent Living programs, the National Institute on Disability, Independent Living, and Rehabilitation Research (NIDILRR), and the Assistive Technology programs to the Administration for Community Living (ACL). WIOA also included statutory changes that affect independent living programs, including the addition of new core services, shifts in the process of developing and adopting state plans and changes in the functions of the SILC. |                                       | Term limits?                           | ? Section 705(b)(6) of the Rehabilitation Act and federal regulations at 34 CFR 364.21(f) provide that each SILC member shall serve a three-year term and no SILC member shall serve more than two full consecutive terms (six years). The three-year term limit and two consecutive terms maximum applies to both voting members and non-voting, ex-officio members. The Rehabilitation Act and federal regulations do not allow for the extension of terms. A member who completes two full consecutive terms may be reappointed to the SILC after a meaningful break in service when a new vacancy for which that member is eligible becomes available, but only after the governor or other appointing authority makes the necessary appointments to replace the former member and fills all the other vacancies for which that member may be eligible. In the case of a member appointed as an individual with disabilities not employed by a CIL or state agency, for example, the governor must first appoint another individual with disabilities not employed by a CIL or state agency and fill all other appointments for which the former SILC member is eligible. The former member may then be reappointed to the SILC once a vacancy for which he or she is eligible subsequently becomes available. |

|          | Membership misc.         | A vacancy in membership of the Council must be filled in the same manner as the original appointment, except that the Governor may delegate this authority to fill a vacancy to the remaining members of the Council after making the original appointment. No vacancy affects the power of the remaining members to execute the duties of the Council. The appointing authority must select members of the council after soliciting recommendations from representatives of organizations representing a broad range of individuals with disabilities and organizations interested in individuals with disabilities.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|          | Required meetings?       | The Council must convene at least four meetings a year in locations determined by the Council to be necessary to conduct Council business. The meetings must be publicly announced, open, and accessible to the general public, including individuals with disabilities, unless there is a valid reason for an executive session. The Council must conduct forums or hearings as appropriate that are publicly announced, open, and accessible to the public, including individuals with disabilities. In order to conduct business, no less than two-thirds of the eligible voting members must be present to constitute a quorum.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

|                          | Statutory duties                       | Per § 477C.5, the DPRC shall advise the Iowa Utilities Board (IUB) on all matters concerning relay service and equipment distribution programs.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                          | Funding source                         | Per § 477C.7, the DPRC funding source for Council Member expenses and a per diem of $50 is a special fund pursuant to § 477C.7. Assessments to applicable entities are issued by the IUB, payments are collected by the IUB, and then the IUB deposits the funds into the special fund.                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                          | Req. by federal law? (If so, specify.) | No, the DPRC is not itself a federal requirement, but the existence of the Telecommunications Relay Service in Iowa is required under Title IV of the Americans with Disabilities Act, which is overseen by the Federal Communications Commission. The State of Iowa established the state program through the legislation in Iowa Code Chapter 477C, which sets a state program that would otherwise need to be provided by the individual telecommunications providers in the State of Iowa. |

|                          | How members are selected               | Per § 477C.5(1), DPRC members are appointed by the IUB. In recent years, consumers and telephone company representatives who are interested in serving on the Council submit a cover letter and resume to the IUB for consideration. Representatives from the office of deaf services and the office of consumer advocate are chosen by those departments.                                                                                                                                     |
|                          | Requirements for membership            | Per § 477C.5(2) the DPRC must have 11 members, consisting of:Six consumers who have communication disorders.Two representatives from telephone companies.One representative from the office of deaf services of the department of human rights.One representative from the office of the consumer advocate of the department of justice.One member of the board or a designee of the Iowa Utilities Board.                                                                 |
